

THE TABLE: HIGH TEA

THE TABLE: HIGH TEA

Less than a year after throwing open their doors to discerning foodies, The Table is tempting diners with scrumptious goodies for High Tea. Co-owner of this refined establishment Gauri Devidayal explains the inspiration for their high tea services: "I think what was once considered a dated pastime now has the scope to recapture the attention of Mumbaikars. We wanted to provide our patrons with the perfect light meal to bridge the gap between lunch and dinner, and what better than the relished tradition of a cup of afternoon tea with finger sandwiches, warm scones and delicate pastries?"

The general concept was designed by Gauri, her co-owner husband Jay and Mumbai's leading chef Alex Sanchez who researched and perfected the three-tiered tea that The Table now offers. Says Gauri: "the menu includes quintessential elements of an English high tea like mini sandwiches (cucumber and cream cheese, salmon and dill cream), tea pastries and warm scones served with lemon curd, cream and jam." Gauri feels their "offering works well because of the way it's served on a beautiful three-tiered tea tray, and secondly, because it is made fresh when you order, depending on which sandwich fillings you opt for – all this at an extremely affordable 450 INR for a small tea tray which is good for two people and 900 INR for a large tray." Her personal favourites? "It has to be the scones but the profiteroles are a close second!"

Moët et Chandon was chosen as The Table's partner for the high tea because The Table wishes to "associate with what the brand stands for: an innovative approach to sharing with others, what we do best. Both, the high tea menu and the champagne (550 INR for a flute) are priced with the intention that we make our menu as accessible to people as possible, with no compromise on quality." So far they have found "it has been enjoyed by professional women who may be having an informal client meeting or women who wanted to entertain their girlfriends or just people who have taken an afternoon off and want to read quietly at a table by the window. The setting is perfect for baby showers as the food is delicious and the space looks beautiful with the light in the late afternoon and early evening." Poorna Jagannathan and Adhuna Akhtar are unabashed lovers of the high tea whilst celebrities such as Hrithik and Suzanne Roshan, Arjun and Mehr Jesia, Jaya Bachchan, Vidya Balan, Konkana Sen and Ranvir Shorey, Shilpa Shetty, Anil Kapoor, Sonam Kapoor, Rhea Kapoor, Twinkle Khanna, Vinod Khanna, John Abraham and Leander Paes are regulars.

High Tea is served from Monday to Saturday, 4:30pm to 6:30pm.
